The Day of Knowledge in Russia

The National Day of Knowledge is celebrated in all parts of our country on the 1st of September.

Teachers, parents, pupils usually gather at the school yards in the morning of this day. They can have different performances or concerts dedicated to The Day Of Knowledge. After that everybody congratulates each other and then pupils and parents give flowers to the teachers to thank them for patience and energy and to congratulate them with this holiday.

It's interesting to know!

In Great Britain children don't go to school on the 1-st of September. The school year in Britain begins on the second Tuesday of September.

Hi, my name is Rimma Volotskova. I'd like to tell you about my summer holidays. During my summer holidays I went to the Black Sea. I went there with my aunt Ira and uncle Peter who rented a room in a hotel for a week. We spent time fantastically. We swam in the sea, sunbathed, went on excursion, climbed the mountains. One day we went to the Zoo. I saw a bear, a wolf, a raccoon and other animals, I enjoyed my holidays. It was unforgettable! Summer is the best season for me!

British holidays

Trafalgar Day is observed on October 21, 2016. Trafalgar Day is the celebration of the victory won by the Royal Navy, commanded by Vice-Admiral Horatio Nelson, over the combined French and Spanish fleets at the Battle of Trafalgar on 21 October 1805.

The formation of the Navy League in 1894 gave added impetus to the movement to recognise Nelson's legacy, and grand celebrations were held in Trafalgar Square on Trafalgar Day, 1896. It was widely commemorated by parades, dinners and other events throughout much of the British Empire in the 19th century and early 20th century. It is still widely celebrated in navies of the Commonwealth of Nations.
